So far, we have learned three ways of telling Status:

1. Ending Sounds: ٌ،َ،ِ،ُ،ْ
2. Pair Combinations (AANI  AYNI  AYNI as in ﻣﺴﻠﻤﺎن ﻣﺴﻠﻤﺊ ﻣﺴﻠﻤﺊ)
3. People Plural Combinations (OONA  EENA  EENA as in ﻣﺴﻠﻤﻮن ﻣﺴﻠﻤﺊ ﻣﺴﻠﻤﺊ)

The last set of combinations we learned today is the feminine plural combination. Here’s an example we covered in class:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Direction</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ﻣﺴﻠﻤ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ﻣﺴﻠﻤان</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ﻣﺴﻠﻤت</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ﻣﺴﻠﻤة</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(Raf’)

(Nasb)

(Jarr)

Here, you haven’t learned anything new (it’s just putting on ending sounds or ﺶ and ﺐ). The last column has the new combination: the addition of the ﺾ and ﻭ. You may have noticed that the Nasb and Jarr versions for all the combinations look the same, and that’s also true here with the feminine plural combination.

Just a note of caution, though:

- These endings look like ending sounds! A common mistake is to not recognize the ﺖ ending as a combination and label the status of these words as you would an ending sound. If you made this mistake, you would say that ﻣﺴﻠﻤة is Jarr although, in reality, it could be Nasb or Jarr from the feminine plural chart.

- If you see ﺳ at the beginning of a word, you will not see any tanween at the end. When you see something like ﻣﺴﻠﻤﺎ and ﻣﺴﻠﻤﺊ, you still have the ﺖ combination going on, so don’t mistaken it as an ending sound when you’re trying to determine the status.
EXERCISES:

A. See if you can tell the status of every red word in the following Quranic passage. Be sure to check for combinations first.

وَالْمَعَادِيَاتُ صَبْحًا (١) فَالْمُورَبَاتُ فَذَّاحًا (٢) فَالْمُعَبْرَاتُ صَبْحًا (٣) فَأَنْزَلَهُ مَعْقًا (٤) فَوَسَطَنَهُ مَعْجًا

(٥) إِنَّ الْإِنسَانَ لَعِنْشَكْنُوْنَاهُ (٦) وَإِنَّهُ عَلَى ذَلِكَ يُسْهِدُ (٧) وَإِنَّهُ لَحَبَّ الْخَيْرَ لَشَدِيدٌ (٨) أَلا يَعْلَمُ إِذَا

بُعُثَ مِنْيُ الْقُبُورِ (٩) وَحُصِّلْ مَاتَ مِنْيُ الصُّدُورِ (١٠) إِنَّكَ رَبِّي هَٰلِكَ لَكَ تَوَابٌ لَّحَبِيرٌ (١١)

B. Read the مُسْلمٌ chart on page 6 in the 201 Handout Packet. The first two charts cover all the combinations we have learned in class. Try to see if you can run through both charts using the following words. The answer key is attached to this handout.
